INTRODUCTION

In the current era of communication technology development, mass media becomes one of the important needs that cannot be separated from human life. Almost all people regardless of age background, economic background, and social background, require media in the form of both print media and electronic media. This media is used to find a variety of information and entertainment. The public's need for entertainment encourages the emergence of a variety of events related to entertainment in the mass media. But one of the most sought-after events by Indonesians to entertain themselves is to watch television, especially watching movies. Motion picture film is one of the entertainment media that is becoming more and more popular and in demand by the general public. Furthermore, the film is both a social context that documents and speaks to the dynamics of people's lives during the making of the film. A film story can be said to be a social reality that takes place in a particular space and time. Film is the actualization of the development of people's lives in its time, from time to time film experienced development, both from the technology used and the theme raised. In public life, language is a social phenomenon owned by one particular group. Formed on the basis of mutual agreement between members of the group. In public life not only becomes a means of communication between people but language has a vital role. Language as a human tool to express his thoughts and feelings. The use of language as a medium to convey the fruits of one's thoughts in order to be known and get a response from others. (Saddhono 2014; Syarifuddin, S., & Hasyim, I., 2020).

Today's young people often come across slang terms of any kind of media. But most of them find it in the media they love the most. They usually come across slang when watching movies, reading books, or listening to music. The general public is greatly influenced by slang terminology. Because they think it's fashionable. Because if everyone uses it, they want to use it too. For example, "Young people talk to each other because it's fashion, it has to. follow what's up to date otherwise they'll be labeled old-fashioned by their group." Students are easily influenced by new trends. In Fast and Furious 7 there is a lot of dialogue that uses slang, not one but there is a lot of dialogue that uses slang in this film. Interestingly this film was nominated for the 10 best films of all time that became the impetus for researchers to take the title "slang analysis in fast and furious 7 Movie.

Nursaid and Maksan (2002), concluded that the language variation or variety of languages is derived from the English word Variety. The word Variety is more precise in Indonesia to be a variation of the language. So language Variety in Indonesia becomes a Variety of Languages. Language variations are caused by social interaction activities carried out by very different communities or groups and their heterogeneous speakers. He has two views regarding this language variation. First, variation is thought to arise from the social diversity of language speakers and the diversity of language functions. From all the opinions expressed by experts, we can conclude that speech is a means of communication between people for the exchange of information. Slang or commonly referred to as slang (slang) is a variety of unofficial languages, not standard and seasonal. The root of slang is prokem. Prokem/ Slang is the language of thugs. Thugs usually use Slang language to communicate so as not to be known by others who are not the thug community. Slang is a language that emerged with the development of the times that are now a trend among teenagers (Gunawan 2011). The relationship of slang to the wearer society is not only limited to language as a means of communication, but is also a reflection of thoughts, attitudes, and a culture. There are several fundamental functions of slang among others:

- a. For the expression of closeness of the relationship More emphasis on the relationship of its user members, being with other group members, this will cause familiarity among group members.
- b. For expressions of group solidarity used as an expression of solidarity and attachment between conversations that are considered boring.
- c. For the need to shift the topic of conversation Only understood by a community that is able to divert conversations that are considered boring.

- d. To show a sense of humor Considered clueless by others can be used to have funny conversations that offend others.
- e. To indicate group identity as a language developed by a group is the identity of a particular group that is different from another group.
- f. For pleasure as an incomprehensible language becomes funny and makes its use happy.
- g. Showing familiarity or intimacy to gain closeness with others, especially in a group.

From the severe explanation of the expert, it can be concluded that the function of slang is to show group identity, pleasure and show familiarity or intimacy. According to Kridalaksana (Harimurti 1982) Films are thin, transparent, flexible sheets coated with an anti-halo coating, used for photographic purposes and mass media tools that have listening (audiovisual) properties and can reach large audiences. That is, the film can be used as a medium of communication where the message implied in the content of the story will reach the communiqué and produce an effect. Like communication in general, where there is a communicator, there must be a communicant. Film is also a work of art where the entire creation of the film uses the creation of a human mindset and sense. Film can also be a representation of its society, where in the content of the story the film must take a culture that is contained in the environment in which the film was taken.

METHOD

This type of research uses a descriptive-qualitative approach focused on analyzing slang features in films from the 1980s, 1990s, and 2000s. Arikunto (Arikunto 1993) states that descriptive research is not meant to test a specific hypothesis, it simply describes what a variable, symptom, or situation is. Source data is primary data data refers to data that comes from the main source directly, the "Fast and Furious 7" movie and secondary data by utilizing government publication sources, websites, books, journal articles, internal organization records and so on.

Watching Movie Method. In this study, the first step was to watch the Fast and furious 7 movie repeatedly and carefully, to determine the type of slang used. Identify Slang Method. After watching the movie, the next stage is to identify the data that has been found completely and analyze the data in accordance with the type of slang word. Listening Method. Mahsun in (Qoyyimah 2014) said that the listening method is a method where to listen to the interlocutor after which the language that comes out of the interlocutor will be arranged by the researcher orally or in writing.

According to Miles and Huberman in (Sugiyono 2016), qualitative research is interactive and progresses continuously until completion, resulting in data saturation. Data analysis activities such as organizing data, displaying data, drawing/validating conclusions, etc. after the researcher has collected the data, then the researcher does anticipatory before reducing data, once the data has been reduced, the next step is to read the data with the presentation of the data in the form of descriptions, graphs, relationships between categories, etc. After that is the withdrawal of conclusions and verifications it was proposed in its early stages, supported by valid and consistent evidence on the analysis of slang in Fast and Furious 7.
